Edited by: Jelena Prpić

This Special Issue, entitled “Beyond Borders—Tackling Neglected Tropical Viral Diseases”, presents recent advances in the surveillance, diagnosis, epidemiology, and clinical understanding of arboviral neglected tropical diseases. The eight contributions highlight the expanding global impact of dengue, Zika, chikungunya, yellow fever, West Nile virus, and other emerging pathogens, emphasizing how climate change, urbanization, and global mobility reshape their transmission. Together, these studies offer a concise overview of current challenges and innovative approaches that aim to strengthen preparedness and response capacities worldwide.
