Message from the Editors-in-Chief

Genealogy is a scholarly journal that provides a venue for academic, cutting-edge contributions to the interdisciplinary field of genealogy studies. We welcome contributions that examine genealogies of family lineage, use genealogical considerations and methods in examining other historical processes (including migration histories, personal, social, and national identities, and social institutions) or study the construction of genealogical narratives. The journal is also interested in biographical studies and their contribution to the understanding of broader social and historical phenomena.

Aims

Genealogy (ISSN 2313-5778) is an open access, peer-reviewed, academic journal that publishes research on all aspects of genealogy and genealogy-related phenomena. Our aim is to provide an advanced, scholarly forum for the dissemination of empirical, comparative, theoretical, and multi-/interdisciplinary approaches to the role of genealogy in different kinds of social processes, from families, to communities, institution building, transnational networks, and states.

Scope

- Ageing and Intergenerational Relations
- Genealogy, lineage, and family history and narratives
- Kinship, ancestry, and population studies, including DNA-based analysis of populations and population migration
- Visual representation and symbolism of family units and family relations: genealogical representation, family trees, heraldry, and art
- Parenting studies
- Histories of childhood, including histories of children
- Onomastic and surname studies
- Birth, marriage, and death customs and rituals
- Identity, trauma, and healing
- Plural genealogical origins and ancestries (individual and collective)
- Indigenous, ethnic, racial, and national community formation and cultural expression
- Genealogical narratives in national histories, myths, movements, and communities
- Local and community microhistories, including oral histories and local heritage studies
- Genealogical conceptions of territory, including notions of homeland and birthplace
- Biographic studies
- Philosophical genealogies and genealogy and history of ideas
