Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Histories (ISSN 2409-9252) is an international, peer-reviewed open-access journal in its starting phase. It is planned to be an efficiently working tool for good historical scholarship. We have an Editorial Board from many parts of the world with a broad mix of research experiences and interests. At the moment, Histories is widely open for proposals: individual papers, special issues, and particular recommendations. We hope that this infrastructure will be used by historians in intelligent cooperative ways. More programmatic statements will follow in due time.

Editor-in-Chief

Prof. Dr. Matteo Valleriani

Aims

The Journal of Histories is an international, peer-reviewed open-access journal that covers topics on inquiry of change and continuity of human societies (on various scales and with different approaches, including environmental, social and technological studies). It publishes reviews, individual research papers, communications, and short notes, and there is no restriction on the length of papers.

The Journal of Histories facilitates a global scholarly debate on a wide array of humans' stories which have evolved over the centuries and continue to change today. All elements of historical investigation that combine empirical research with conceptual work, undertake comparisons across time and distance, or contribute to the development of quantitative or qualitative methods of analysis are welcomed.
