Aims

European Journal of Investigation in Health, Psychology and Education (ISSN 2254-9625) is a peer-reviewed scientific journal that publishes original articles and systematic reviews or meta-analyses related to research on human development throughout the life cycle.

The research presented in this journal combines contributions from the fields of health, psychology and education in a coherent and practical way in order to study the human being from different perspectives or in different contexts, such as at the individual, family, social, or organizational level. Each of these approaches will focus on certain topics or specialties, and other topics may be included as long as they are considered to be of interest and relevance to the study of human development.
