Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Humans is a multidisciplinary, anthropologically oriented online journal that publishes contributions focusing on the anthropological subfields (archaeology, ethnology/cultural anthropology, physical/biological anthropology, and anthropological linguistics) as well as those that integrate developments across subfields or implement multidisciplinary approaches. The journal is devoted to rapid publication of cutting-edge developments in theory, method, technique, and data analysis. While original holistic research and contributions are given the highest priority, communications and reviews are also encouraged. All contributions are rigorously peer-reviewed. Conference proceedings and Special Issues by guest editors that highlight outstanding research contributions on specific topics are welcome. The journal is designed to appeal to a diverse audience of research scientists, practitioners, and developers in both academia and industry.

Aims

Humans (ISSN 2673-9461) is an international and cross-disciplinary open access academic journal publishing peer-reviewed papers on anthropological subjects (in its broadest sense) and its subfields including ethnology, archaeology, bioanthropology, and linguistic anthropology. Manuscripts that cross the traditional disciplinary and subdisciplinary boundaries are highly encouraged, as well as those within the relevant subdisciplines. The goal is to enhance a greater understanding of human behaviour through both time and space.

Humans prioritises research papers, reviews, and commentaries. Submissions for Special Topic volumes are also welcome. Authors should consult the "Instructions for Authors" regarding manuscript length and formatting.
