Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The Société Internationale d'Urologie (SIU), founded in 1907, is committed to advancing urologic care, education and research on a global scale. The SIU Journal, the society's official publication, plays a central role in this mission by offering a truly international platform for the dissemination of knowledge. As a diamond open access journal, it is freely accessible to readers everywhere, thus ensuring that the latest advances in urology are available to all. Beyond publishing high-quality original research, reviews and educational content, the journal also maintains a growing, searchable archive of past publications. Reflecting the SIU's global mission, the SIU Journal seeks to foster international collaboration and highlight innovations that will shape the future of urologic care, and we welcome contributions from across the urology community worldwide.

Aims

The Société Internationale d'Urologie Journal (SIUJ), ISSN: 2563-6499) is an international, open access journal, published online every two months. It aims to provide clinicians and researchers from around the world with original and peer-reviewed information in all areas of urology. SIUJ encourages submissions of original research articles, systematic reviews, meta-analyses, commentaries, interesting images, brief communications, comments, and replies. Other article types may be considered, but SIUJ does not publish case reports.
