Journal Information

Health Economics and Policy (ISSN 3042-898X) is an international, peer-reviewed, open access journal on health economics published quarterly online by MDPI.

Aims

Health Economics and Policy is an international, open-access journal dedicated to advancing rigorous economic analysis, effective governance, and evidence-informed decision-making across all aspects of health and healthcare systems. We publish comprehensive reviews, original research articles, policy briefs, and short communications that deepen our understanding of how economic principles—and the structures that govern them—can be harnessed to optimize resource allocation, improve equity and access, and shape sustainable health policy worldwide.
